

International Student Advising Business Plan (Enhanced Draft)

This document expands the attached draft into an investor-quality business plan.

Foundation (from your draft)

FREELANCE INTERNATIONAL ADVISING BUSINESS PLAN1. Executive SummaryMission: Provide end-to-end U.S. university placement, enrollment support, and student visa navigation services for global applicants.Objective: Optimize agency revenue by using predictable, low-risk markets to subsidize highly motivated, high-risk pipeline pools.Value Proposition: Providing transparent, comprehensive document validation and rigorous mock visa preparation to maximize university enrollments.Location Constraints: Operated within the United States. All administrative and client acquisition pipelines function via compliant 1099 structures or master aggregator agency networks to protect local legal status.2. Operational Models by Risk PoolTo maximize profitability, you cannot treat all 20 countries the same way. Your strategy will change depending on the country's risk level: [YOUR FREELANCE ADVISING PRACTICE]

The Low-Risk Funnel (Backend Commission Model): For countries like Colombia, Brazil, South Korea, and Taiwan, adopt an onboarding-heavy model. Because approval chances are high, offer free or low-cost initial consultations. Rely on the master aggregator commission check ($500 to $2,000 per student) upon their successful arrival at the university campus.

The High-Risk Funnel (Upfront Retainer Model): For countries like Nepal, Bangladesh, Nigeria, and Pakistan, do not rely on backend commissions. The 70%+ rejection risk means you could work for months and receive zero commission. Charge these students a non-refundable upfront "Admissions Consulting & Portfolio Build Fee" ($300 - $700). If they pass the visa interview, your aggregator commission is a pure bonus.

3. Service Framework (The End-to-End Lifecycle)

You will handle the student from initial contact until they step onto their U.S. campus:

Phase 1: Pre-Screening & Evaluation: Audit the applicant's GPA transcripts, English test profiles (IELTS, TOEFL, or Duolingo), and liquid financial capacity.

Phase 2: University Alignment: Match the student with partner public research systems (e.g., ASU, University of Delaware, University of Arizona) via your master aggregator portal.

Phase 3: Document Assembly: Edit personal statements, format professional resumes, collect letters of recommendation, and oversee the formal application portal submission.

Phase 4: I-20 & SEVIS Processing: Guide the family through the financial verification required by the school's international student office to issue the Form I-20.

Phase 5: The Visa Defense Program: Conduct three distinct rounds of mock consular interviews. Target specific objections under Section 214(b) by practicing answers about their home country ties and exact career paths.

4. Revenue & Monetization Strategy

Direct-to-Consumer Client Pricing:

Low-Risk Package: Free application management with a mandatory $250 visa prep deposit (refundable only if the visa is denied).

High-Risk Package: $500 flat fee paid upfront for full application submission, transcript translation audits, and complete visa defense training.

B2B Commission Structure: Secure sub-agent credentials through global platforms like ApplyBoard, Adventus, or Shorelight. Expect average commission yields of 10% to 15% of the student's first-year tuition payout, split between the master network and your agency.

5. Compliance & Security Protocol (U.S. Based)

1099 Financial Management: All incoming funds must pass through clear U.S. tax paths. Issue a Form W-9 to your aggregator partner and file taxes using Schedule C (Form 1040).

Work Authorization Check: If operating on F-1 OPT, verify that your business description matches your major CIP code. Ensure your school's DSO logs at least 20 hours per week of active business development inside your SEVP portal.

Ethical Boundaries: Never write essays directly for students, forge bank documentation, or guarantee visa issuance. Maintain clear, signed client agreements stating that visa decisions rest entirely with the U.S. Department of State.

Visa Risk Classification Matrix

Low to Moderate Risk Group ($\leq 55\%$ Rejection Rate): Colombia (~23%) Chile (~18%) South Korea (~16%) Japan (~12%) Taiwan (~15%) Brazil (~22%) Peru (~24%) Saudi Arabia (~20%) Indonesia (~25%) Turkey (~35%) Vietnam (~40%) Uzbekistan (~52%)

High Risk Group ($> 55\%$ Rejection Rate): Nepal

(~81%)Bangladesh (~73%)Pakistan (~71%)Nigeria (~75%)Ethiopia (~78%)Ghana (~65%)Somalia (~83%)Yemen (~67%)

Executive Vision

Build a scalable international education consulting company serving students seeking admission to U.S. universities through ethical advising, document preparation, university matching, and interview coaching.

Market Analysis

Global demand for U.S. higher education remains strong despite visa volatility. Revenue diversification across lower-risk and higher-risk markets reduces dependence on a single geography.

Services

Student assessment; University matching; Application management; SOP coaching; Resume review; Visa interview coaching; Pre-departure orientation; Partner recruitment.

Revenue Model

Application packages, premium coaching, university commissions where permitted, partner recruitment, language training referrals, accommodation referrals, corporate partnerships.

Marketing

SEO, YouTube, TikTok, Facebook, LinkedIn, Nepal and South Asia referral partners, alumni ambassadors, webinars, CRM automation.

Operations

CRM, document management, compliance checklists, SOPs, KPIs, AI-assisted document review, multilingual support.

Financial Roadmap

Target 150 students/year by Year 3. Maintain diversified acquisition channels and recurring referral sources. Gross margins improve as automation increases.

Risk Management

Never guarantee visa approvals. Maintain written disclosures, privacy controls, AML awareness, tax compliance, and partner agreements.